Bringing S.H.Figuarts® to Life with Photography

When I received the opportunity to talk about taking a photo of NARUTO for the S.H.Figuarts line, I immediately knew what scene I wanted to capture on film. Naruto has so many touching an meaningful moments at the counter of Ichiraku Ramen with so many different characters, with the characters in the current line I just had to capture the touching moments between student and teacher.
Just getting my hands on the new Naruto S.H.Figuarts figure brought back memories of those times when I was deeply immersed in the manga and anime. I would be delighted if this photo could evoke even a bit of nostalgia for Naruto's childhood days.

EYE OF UATU

I hit the jackpot when I was given kid Sasuke as my subject for this collaboration. Not only is he a great release, but talk about a character with a slew of iconic moments to choose from! That said, I knew exactly what I wanted to attempt- that first fateful clash between Sasuke and Naruto at the Final Valley! It took quite the journey to bring this moment to life-

How to Make METAL BUILD

Planning

We conduct meetings with the creators to discuss how best to incorporate features and specifications unique to each product.

We incorporate feedback and approvals from the creators and rights holders to create new designs while respecting each character's image.

Modeling

Based on the design drawing, we use CAD to design the product while considering mechanical features and durability.

We output many 3D prototypes to identify the proper articulation, materials, and colors to determine the number of parts.

Coloring

We choose colors designed to accentuate the metal materials and replicate appearances in ways molded plastics or model kits cannot, then design detailed tampo prints, all in keeping with the METAL BUILD sense of quality. The result is a product with an amazing sense of presence.

Assembly

Through an average of over 20 molds, more than 500 components, over 800 assembly steps and painting, we create a precision finished product.

Complete

We design a dynamic package, utilizing matte finishes and foil to spark excitement among collectors.
